

The Restoration: Just when you think you've figured it out... everything changes

Grace Mitchell is thrilled when she buys her first home and hires contractor Max Trent to help. But all too soon, they find themselves right in the middle of a nationwide conspiracy linking a well-known televangelist with a group of power brokers determined to promote their own agenda. As Max and Grace put everything on the line to outwit a shadowy enemy whose power is limited only by the depths of his own evil, they are pulled headlong into a whirlwind they feel ill-equipped to handle. Murder, blackmail, arson, and sabotage the long-range effects are staggering. But to expose the truth may cost them everything including their lives. The Restoration is a gripping novel of love and hate, trust and betrayal, suspense and the supernatural with twists and turns that rush you headlong into a surprise ending you'll never see coming. This is the best manuscript I've read since This Present Darkness. Think Frank Perretti meets Ted Dekker via Dee Henderson. Jan Dennis, former editor Destiny Image, Cook, and Crossway. I'd recommend this powerful novel to any publisher. Liz Sherman, former editor- Albury Press If you can only read one book this year, make it this one. Its powerful, relevant, and will draw you back again and again. Marlene Bagnall, Director Colorado and Greater Philadelphia Christian Writers Conferences. Its probably one of the best books I've ever read. I couldn't put it down. Sandy Cathcart, Former Director- Oregon Christian Writers Conference. Im not giving this manuscript back until its out in print. Every time I read it, I find myself wanting to draw closer to God. This goes on the shelf with my classics. Karen King, freelance copy editor.
