An Encouragement to Daily Bible Reading In these latter days much of the church, as a result its desire to become more appealing and relevant to the world, has abandoned the fundamentals of the faith once for all delivered to the saints (Jude: 3). Such vital matters as sin, repentance and the necessity of living a life of obedience to Gods commands seem to be side-lined as churches seek to grow numerically, but as a result inevitably decline spiritually. The Bible tells us that there are only two spiritual positions we can occupy, we are either Gods children or we are His adversaries. There are no other alternatives! That being the case it seemed appropriate to produce a series of four concise booklets, with the aim of encouraging folk to read their Bibles regularly for themselves; urging people to consider whether they really are Christians; explaining the true gospel; and outlining what genuine belief in God entails. They were deliberately kept short as many folk seemed unable (or unwilling) to read anything of a more substantial nature. That statement in itself surely speaks volumes. To bring these essays to a wider audience the booklets have now been revised, expanded and combined into one short volume. It is the authors sincere prayer that God, through the working of the Holy Spirit, will use these essays to challenge the unregenerate to come to Christ in repentance and faith, and encourage believers in their Christian walk.
